Democrat Assails Brannan Plan

Cooley Calls It Untried Idea Based on Subsidy

Washington, April 5 (AP)—The Democratic chairman of the House Agriculture Committee denounced the administration's Brannan Farm Plan, today as an untried idea based on "principles of a common subsidy."

Rep. Cooley of North Carolina, who blasted the plan in a statement, thus demonstrated a Democratic party split on farm policy.

Cooley's vigorous anti-Brannan stand took on more significance in view of the fact that last year he led an unsuccessful fight to give the plan at least a trial.

The agriculture chairman explained his altered position did not mean he would refuse to use the Brannan subsidy approach, in case where this seemed to be the only way of meeting a specific problem.

The Brannan Plan proposes that perishable farm commodities be sold at whatever price the markets will pay; and that the government later make production payments or subsidies to farmers to bring their income to a predetermined level considered by the government to be fair.

The present farm program seeks to maintain a fair price in the market place for farm commodities, through government loans or purchases that take price-depressing surpluses out of the markets.

Cooley's statement referred to the special message to Congress on Monday in which President Truman made a new appeal for enactment of the Brannan Plan. Cooley said:

"Most disturbing of all to me in the President's statement is what appears to be a lack of appreciation of the soundness, importance, and effectiveness of the present farm program."

Government Hits

Cigarette Makers

Advertising Is Called False, Misleading in Nature

Washington, April 5 (AP)—The government today ordered a crack-down on what it called "false and misleading advertising" by some major cigarette makers.

The Federal Trade Commission directed two of the largest companies to halt certain claims that one brand of cigarettes is superior to another.

The so-called "cease and desist" orders were against R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., makers of Camel cigarettes, and the P. Lorillard Co., producers of Old Gold.

F.T.C. said it also is considering similar action against the American Tobacco Co. and its Lucky Strike cigarettes as well as Philip Morris, Ltd., and the cigarette which bear that company's name.

"All cigarettes contain varying amounts of nicotine and throat irritants," the commission said in announcing its action, "and there is no reliable basis for advertising claims that one brand is superior to another in these respects."

Tuesday's 82 Is Record for Kingston

Yesterday's temperature of 82 degrees was the highest for April 4 in the records of the city engineer's office.

It was not the warmest April day on record, however. That came in 1945 when the mercury hit 87 on April 13, March 29 of the same year brought a top temperature of 86 degrees, but this balmy spring weather was followed by cool days in May.

Yesterday's high was achieved at 3:30 p. m. The high for Monday was 63, and that at noon today was only 48.

State Cools Off After Warm Day

Buffalo Gets Flurries of Snow, New York Has Fog

Albany, N. Y., April 5 (AP)—New York state cooled off today after a day of record heat.

Snow flurries fell in the Buffalo area and rain pelted other up-state sections. A heavy fog enveloped New York city, but was expected to lift before noon.

Temperature readings across the state were in the high 30s and low 40s this morning—a drop of 25 to 30 degrees from yesterday's high.

The mercury was expected to slip below freezing in western New York tonight. Snow flurries were forecast for the western section.

in the jury box, exclaiming: "God bless you all."

They shook hands with each other. Several of the jury members were in tears. Mrs. Irene Coglan, wife of a retired farmer, embraced the youth and they rubbed checks.

Bednasek then went into the law library where his Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity brothers were waiting.

"I am the happiest man in the world," he said.

Bednasek said he had no immediate plans for the future.

Youth Held at Nyack

Nyack, N. Y., April 5 (AP)—A youth who identified himself as Gilbert Alfred Larson, 17, of 1 Deepdale Drive, Great Neck, N. Y., was charged with second degree assault and impairing the movements of a minor yesterday after he allegedly entered a house here, Rockland County District Attorney George V. Dorsey said. The youth carried the credentials of a magazine subscription company and entered a residence where a nine-year-old girl was caring for other children. A neighbor saw him leaving the house by a back door, and notified police who arrested him. He was committed to Rockland county jail and held for grand jury action in lieu of $3,500 bail.

The police department plane, equipped to seed Catskill mountain clouds with dry ice, returned to Floyd Bennett Field at 9:10 a. m. (E.S.T.) today, two hours and 10 minutes after taking off.

The first time man tried to make it rain in the city's watershed last March 28, the elements intervened. It rained that day. Since that day the optimistic rainmakers have not gone out for fear they might create a snowfall.

The reservoirs serving the city now are at 87.5 per cent of capacity, compared with 94.1 per cent a year ago. Yesterday's total was measured at 170,796,000,000 gallons. The capacity of all the reservoirs is 253,136,000,000 gallons. Unless the reservoirs are full by June 1, the city faces a greater emergency during the dry summer months. Recent rains and melting of snow have added materially to the storage.

Aboard the plane were the city's consulting meteorologist, Dr. Wallace E. Howell, a pilot and co-pilot and two members of the Department of Water Supply.

The plane carried 50 pounds of dry ice with which to seed clouds.

Today's flight plans were to proceed to a point 20 miles east of Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and then head north toward an altitude of 15,000 feet to climb over the expected cloud formations in the Catskills.

A weather forecaster told Dr. Howell he could expect cloud formations and occasional showers over the watershed.

Monk Draws Life In Prague Court

Prague, Czechoslovakia, April 5—A Roman Catholic clergyman was sentenced today by a Prague court to life imprisonment on charges of high treason and spying for the Vatican.

His nine co-defendants, all of them Catholic clergymen, received lighter sentences ranging from two to 25 years.

The official Czechoslovak news agency reported that nine of the clergymen were convicted of either anti-state activity or treason or both. The other drew a two-year sentence because he knew of the activities of the others and did not report them. Some of the defendants were charged with contacting foreign groups and collecting weapons to be used against the government.

The life imprisonment was ordered for Jan Mastilak, 39-year-old Redemptorist monk who was director of the Moravian Theological Institute.

Waters Full of Mines

Tokyo, April 5 (AP)—Here's one line of work that shouldn't suffer dormancy. The Japan Maritime Safety Board estimates there are 39,000 mines remaining in Japanese waters. Minesweepers, working only 15 per cent of the known mined areas, have cleared 1,300 mines since the war. Finishing the job, the board says, will take 30 years.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, April 5 (AP)—A handful of governmental and business agencies are out with reports today on trends. A number of them offer explanations and opinions on the question that always preoccupies them, "Where are we going?" Looking them all over, it would seem the answer is: In several directions.

Take the job picture as reported by the Census Bureau and interpreted by Commerce Secretary Sawyer. The bureau believes, from such reports as it gathers, that unemployment dropped 561,000 in March, while employment increased 598,000. The labor force grows steadily, as the nation grows, and that is one of the reasons the gain in employment and the drop in unemployment are never exactly the same.

Secretary Sawyer is encouraged by the gain in employment to 57,551,000 and the drop in the number of the jobless to 4,123,000. He says this trend away from rising unemployment came sooner than he had expected, but he admits much of it may be due to the settlement of the coal strike and normal pick-up in seasonal industries.

But there's still another factor the secretary doesn't mention. Productivity is rising, too. New machines and methods mean that more goods are being produced with fewer man hours. That factor and the growing number in the labor force puts the problem to industry to find more and more jobs, through making and selling more and more goods. Otherwise, unemployment will start rising again.

Other Reports Not Encouraging

Less encouraging than the drop in unemployment are some other government reports today. Installment buying continues to rise. The Federal Reserve Board says it's now $10.4 billion, a gain of $2.5 billion in a year. People now owe $3.2 billion on their automobiles alone. Some people say the national income can easily swing this much buying on the cuff, and that the proportion of credit to total sales is far from dangerous. But others say that income and individual "liquid assets" are stabilized while installment buying goes on rising, and that can lead to danger.

The Securities and Exchange Commission reports that liquid savings last year came to $4.3 billion, unchanged from the year before. The S.E.C. raises an eyebrow, however, at the fact that "the average American" saved only two per cent of his net income in 1949, while in 1940 he was putting away 16 per cent. Liquid savings include cash and bank deposits, investments in savings and loan associations, insurance and securities.

Bank statements out today in New York may throw some light on this trend. Most of them show a drop in deposits. Income tax payments could account for a large part of that.

Sales Reported Lower

Department store sales in New York are reported today 2.5 per cent lower than March than last, but for the nation as a whole the Federal Reserve Board reports sales running neck and neck with last year. Weather conditions have a lot to do with the variations. And department store sales and total retail sales are two different things.

Tire companies are happy. Increasing demand has caused many rubber companies to go to a six-day week, and some plants in Akron, Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Oakes, Pa., have operated on Sunday to meet the rush of orders. The booming output of the Detroit car plants gets the credit.

The Labor and Commerce Departments report now construction put in place during the first quarter of 1950 hit a new record of $4.4 billion, 18 per cent higher than the first quarter last year. But against that comes the guess of S.E.C. and the Commerce Department that industry will spend $2 billion less this year than last for plant and equipment. The 1950 total is put at $16.1 billion. Thus, the net gain in construction comes from home and public building, with industry falling behind. And this comes right back to the unemployment threat again—the prospect that the labor force may grow faster than the plant and jobs for it.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, April 4—Dr. William H. Kilpatrick, well-known educator will speak in the college auditorium on May 22 at 8:30 p. m. Class representatives to the Student Council were recently elected as follows: Freshmen—Paul Shannon, Hugh Quinn, Ed Moulton, and Charles Gilbert; sophomores—Mary Bell, Dot Hebrink, Herman Paulk and Forrest McMann; juniors are to meet later.

Dr. John M. Sherwig, instructor in social science, has been named to the rank of assistant professor.

Due to the illness of Godfrey Bellavigna the past week Jerry Keshlak presided over the meeting of the Student Council. Natalie Fleck announced that the council keys were to arrive on April 19.

The Delphics held their pledge banquet last week at the Old Fort and their Easter party at Thompson's. Loren Campbell was present and gave a short speech.

A talk on old firearms was given last week at the gun room of the Brick House to fifth grade pupils who visited there with their teacher, Miss Sophie Sovolozki.

Betty Hutton Is Divorced

Santa Monica, Calif., April 5 (AP)—Betty Hutton is a free woman today, but she didn't act very happy about divorcing Theodore Briskin, camera manufacturer.

The actress, 28, wept all through yesterday's proceedings, in which she charged mental cruelty. The court awarded her custody of their two children, Lindsay, three, and Candice, two, Briskin, whom she married in 1945, did not contest the suit.

Stevedores Are Tough

Baltimore, April 5 (AP)—Maryland stevedores are tough. One rear dual and one front wheel of a 3,300-pound truck backed over William Nelson, 50-year-old waterfront worker, yesterday. But at Baltimore General Hospital doctors found only a leg bruise. "It hurt a little as it started over, but I fared fine now," commented Nelson as he left for home. The truck driver's suffering from shattered nerves.

Ports Are Tied Up

Buenos Aires, Argentina, April 5 (AP)—Maritime workers, striking in protest against efforts to absorb their unions into the government-approved General Confederation of Labor (CGT), tied up Argentina's ports today. The 48-hour strike was begun yesterday by the Independent Federation of Maritime Unions. More than 10,000 workers, including ship crews and office workers, walked off the job.

Monk Draws Life In Prague Court

Prague, Czechoslovakia, April 5—A Roman Catholic clergyman was sentenced today by a Prague court to life imprisonment on charges of high treason and spying for the Vatican.

His nine co-defendants, all of them Catholic clergymen, received lighter sentences ranging from two to 25 years.

The official Czechoslovak news agency reported that nine of the clergymen were convicted of either anti-state activity or treason or both. The other drew a two-year sentence because he knew of the activities of the others and did not report them.

Some of the defendants were charged with contacting foreign groups and collecting weapons to be used against the government.

The life imprisonment was ordered for Jan Mastilak, 39-year-old Redemptorist monk who was director of the Moravian Theological Institute.

Waters Full of Mines

Tokyo, April 5 (AP)—Here's one line of work that shouldn't suffer dormancy. The Japan Maritime Safety Board estimates there are 39,000 mines remaining in Japanese waters. Minesweepers, working only 15 per cent of the known mined areas, have cleared 1,300 mines since the war. Finishing the job, the board says, will take 30 years.

CANCER CONTROL MONTH

The Ulster County Cancer Campaign opened this week and will continue for the month of April. Since the local office was opened a year ago, five hundred volunteers have been enlisted. These men and women work relentlessly on the educational, service and campaign committees. The complete program is financed by the New York State Division of the American Cancer Society through funds received from the April campaigns.

In Kingston we have the Ulster County Tumor Clinic with as fine equipment as there is anywhere in the country. No longer is it necessary for local people to go elsewhere for cancer treatment. The New York State Division sent $10,000 grant-in-aid for our tumor clinic.

With this progress locally, the chairmen and volunteer workers are confident that the people of Ulster County will contribute generously so that we will go over the top in the 1950 Cancer Crusade.

Checks may be made payable to Stanton Warren, Kingston Savings Bank, Kingston, N. Y.

You can do your part in this life-saving program by giving generously. To participate in this fight against the dread disease through contributions of money should be a privilege. Those who avail themselves of the opportunity will be associating themselves with one of the greatest works that man has ever attempted.

Do it today.

ACCIDENTS IN THE HOMES

As the result of accidents in and about the homes last year, there were over five million persons injured and 35,000 persons killed. Many of these accidents could have been avoided. In quoting statistics of the National Safety Council, Thomas W. Ryan, director of the State Division of Safety, called attention to the hazards existing during house cleaning and spring clean-ups.

Falls account for approximately half of the home accidents and spring is one period of the year when persons in performing the work incident to the spring clean-ups expose themselves to these and many other hazards.

Standing on chairs, stools or other makeshift devices, climbing rickety step-ladders which are not properly based or equipped with safety devices to prevent slipping increase the dangers a thousand fold.

Care also must be exercised when using explosives and inflammable cleaning solutions when dry cleaning drapes, curtains and other fabrics.

The starting of fires in and about the premises is another major cause of accidents.

Accidents can be avoided. When you undertake these jobs use safe equipment so that you and your family will be able to enjoy the results of your labor.

Sometimes a battle of wits turns out to be just a battle.

AIR MERCHANT FLEET

There is an idea in Washington for the formation of a fleet of cargo airplanes for private airline operations, with the aid of government subsidies, the planes to incorporate design features which would make them useful as military craft in the event of war. This would create, in short, an air merchant fleet on a footing comparable to that of the subsidized merchant marine of the seas. The idea is still in an embryonic stage, and several factors are holding it up. Some are political, but a chief stumbling block is the question of whether suitable designs can be worked out for planes which would be practically useful for both civil and military purposes. Faith in the ingenuity and resourcefulness of American designers suggests that if desire for the dual-purpose air fleet is strong enough suitable designs will be created.

When a new idea of governmental activity is put forth, it is not easy to predict whether it would bring a saving or an additional cost. But there should be the possibility of saving in this idea. Substantial government funds

REPUBLICAN ACTION

Two important documents have been issued by Republicans during the past week which undoubtedly establish the basis for the 1950 and the 1952 campaigns. One is an article, "Is President Truman taking us down the British road?" by Senator Robert A. Taft, and published in Collier's for April 8. The other is a speech by Senator Styles Bridges, delivered in Congress on March 27, entitled "Who is the master mind in the Department of State?"

Senator Taft daily accuses the Administration of having accepted British Fabian Socialism as its guide. He builds his case, fact by fact. Of the British model, he says:

"Today Great Britain is living a life of austerity. It is unable to manufacture exports sufficient to pay for the imports which it must have. Its workmen suffer a low standard of living. While we do not hear so much any more of the argument that this or that program must be adopted because it has been followed in England, yet it appears that the so-called Fair Deal program, and the thinking of groups like the Americans for Democratic Action, are still following the British Socialist pattern and paralleling the developments in England."

In a word, the Administration has picked a bad pattern, one that produces an unsatisfactory product, and that cannot stand on its own feet, but must look to us for support. As we have no one to look to for support, it is obvious that if that pattern does to us what it is doing to Great Britain, we shall fall. The only reason Great Britain does not fall is that the United States makes up the deficit.

Says Taft:

"While conditions in England are not entirely the same and undoubtedly the British have a less favorable economic basis on which to work, still it seems fair to assume that if we copy the British in all of their policies we are likely to reach the same kind of state of economic morass and regimentation which they had attained prior to the recent election. That morass cannot be cleared up for a long time, even if future elections completely repudiate the Socialist program."

It would serve no purpose for me to go on paraphrasing Senator Taft's article as I have not enough space. Let this gist of it suffice and now you are on your own.

Senator Bridges, of course, is dealing with the current scandal in the State Department, but he lays down a broader base than has yet appeared, and establishes beyond doubt the fact that the bipartisan foreign policy is dead. For in this important address, he asks questions that have heretofore been suppressed.

It is astonishing that this major state document, affecting our basic relationships with all the world, infinitely more important in its political potentials than much that appears in the press, was scarcely reported.

The "New York Times" the newspaper of record, had it on the front page under this heading: "Get Acheson" drive opened by Bridges"—a heading remotely related to the speech.

Senator Bridges said:

"I have no personal quarrel with Senator Acheson. However, the callous manner in which he publicly plays on the great hopes of the American people and all peace-loving people, illustrates in part the reason why, in the first place, I was compelled to vote against confirmation of the nomination of Mr. Acheson to the critically important office which he holds."

The essence of Senator Bridges' speech is that the Senate passed a resolution requiring a committee to conduct a full and complete study and investigation as to whether persons who are disloyal to the United States are or have been employed by the Department of State.

Such investigation has been held under that resolution. The Tydings committee has attempted to investigate Senator McCarthy, but it has not made any kind of an investigation of persons loyal or alleged to be disloyal.

The resolution is clear; the conduct of the committee is also clear. Senator Bridges thus asks a long series of very important questions. For instance, he asks:

"Who put the 91 homosexuals in our State Department?"

"Who put all the others in our State Department who have been fired or have resigned?"

Let Senator Tydings answer that.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

CANCER IS NOT LIKE ANY OTHER DISEASE

The first week in April is known as Cancer Week, during which time as much as is known about cancer is given to the public. This information is encouraging each year, because, while the actual cause of apparently normal cells acting in a disorderly manner is unknown, what cancer is not is gradually becoming known. This information is worth much to everybody. The other valuable knowledge is that early cancer is curable by the present methods of treatment—surgery, X-ray, and radium.

In "The Handbook on Cancer for the Medical Profession," issued by the Canadian Medical Association to all Canadian physicians, a simple but complete definition of cancer is: A cancer is a mass of new cells which multiply without control, and which invade surrounding tissue spaces and in some cases the lymphatics and blood vessels. All other biological or body processes have a meaning; cancer has no meaning whatever. Every ordinary cell in the body has a twofold job to do: (1) its function in the body and (2) to multiply or reproduce itself.

In cancer the idea of reproduction is present, but the cancer cell has no use, no function to perform in the body. There is just a purposeless and never-ending cell division or multiplying of cells. Cancer cells may be termed the gangster cells of the body.

Unfortunately in their early stages the cancer cells cannot be recognized as they so closely resemble normal cells, but fortunately, even in their early stages, cells that are cancerous or likely to become cancerous are recognized by their behavior. These cells grow in a disorderly manner and have no boundaries; they will grow in such numbers that they destroy every other tissue in their path. While it is known that irritation will "start" a group of cells to become cancer, it is not known what causes the cancer cells to "continue" to grow. It is this continuing to grow that is the subject of research in all laboratories.

Until the cause of continuous multiplying of cancer cells is discovered, we must have all "suspicious" symptoms investigated.

must be spent for cargo-carrying military aircraft; if part of this could go into subsidies for commercial craft, the operating and maintenance costs of the military fleet might be reduced and some productive use could be made of the subsidy money. As long as a huge defense expenditure apparently is to be an unavoidable item in the national budget for some years to come, it seems sensible to get what usefulness is possible from these military investments.

The good loser is often the real winner.

Stirring Up the Red Paint Again

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — The power one member of Congress can wield over a government agency has seldom been more shockingly demonstrated than in a backstage drama involving Martinist Congressman John J. Rooney, New York Democrat.

Rooney is threatening to stymie the vital air-safety program of the Civil Aeronautics Board following a personal gripe against C. A. B. Chairman Joseph J. O'Connell, Jr. As boss of a House sub-appropriation committee, Rooney recently slashed a hefty $923,000 from the C. A. B.'s modest $4,323,000 budget request.

If approved by Congress, this amazing 23 per cent cut will mean that the C. A. B.'s overworked staff of 640 people—smallest of any independent agency in the government—must be reduced by 100. Furthermore this will come at a time when there is a crying need for more personnel for the ever-growing job of supervising civil aviation.

More important, it would mean an almost inevitable letdown in inspection facilities to insure maximum safety. Many lives would be placed in jeopardy.

Close friends say that Rooney has never forgiven O'Connell, a fellow New York Democrat, for remarking at a banquet a year and a half ago that the New York congressman didn't spend enough time in Washington.

A comparison of McCarthy's charges with those of Fascist Joe Kampf shows they are almost identical. In case after case, McCarthy almost paraphrases charges made by Kampf in some of his inflammatory publications which have received the hearty endorsement of the Ku Klux Klan.

Kampf, original name Kampf, was born in Yorktown, N. Y., made several trips to Germany, and finally shipped his German-born father back to the fatherland shortly before the war started. He was convicted in 1948 for contempt of Congress, and this conviction was affirmed by the Court of Appeals.

Rooney Gots Rave

A truer remark was never made—which may be why it stung Rooney so deeply. At any rate the New York congressman gave the C. A. B. chairman one of the most abusive grillings an agency chief has ever received at a recent closed-door session.

At the hearings started Rooney roughly ordered O'Connell not to talk about additional civil aeronautics personnel, who I know now are not going to be approved.

"You say you know now they are not going to be approved?" asked the surprised O'Connell.

"Yes," roared Rooney, "I am quite sure of that."

"Then it seems rather silly to be discussing anything that has already been decided," replied the C. A. B. chairman with a smile.

However, just before the outcome could be announced, Congressman

Note: Later when O'Connell states swarmed into the well of the House demanding to know how they had been recorded on the roll call. This was a delaying tactic to give time to drum up some switch-voices and to snap victory from defeat in the very close balloting.

Meanwhile, Rep. Charles Hallock, of Indiana, who led the fight for the Kerr Bill on the Republican side, also appeared in the House well. Hallock asked Lewis Deschler, House parliamentarian, who was standing behind the tally clerk.

"What's the score, Lew?"

Before Deschler could answer, Speaker Rayburn, who was presiding, informed Hallock that two more votes were needed if the bill was to be saved from defeat. In other words, it was up to Hallock to produce two switch-voices on the Republican side.

How well he succeeded may be attested by the fact that not two but three Republicans, who had voted against the Kerr Bill, soon appeared in the House well and informed Rayburn that they were ready to change their vote and be recorded as for the bill.

The three Republicans were Earl Wilson, of Indiana, a protege of Hallock, Paul Shafner, of Michigan, and Henry Latham, of New York. One Democrat, Morgan Moulder of Missouri, also mysteriously changed his vote pressure at the last minute.

Two other House members—whose yes-and-no votes canceled off each other—also changed their minds and asked to be recorded as voting present. They were Richard Wiggleworth, of Massachusetts, who had voted against the Kerr Bill on the first roll call, and Donald Jackson of California, who voted for it.

That is the inside story of how the vote to kill the Kerr Bill was misruled into a vote to pass by a margin of 176 to 174.

Some of the loudest cheers heard in the House plus shouts of "how much did you get?" through the House of Representatives last week.

Independently, Congressman Hallock, who helped to engineer this sellout of the American consumer, is nearly always in the vanguard of big business on every issue affecting working people and consumers, though, strangely, Hallock has no big business to speak of—neither gas nor oil interests—in his Indiana district.

Hallock, who came to Congress a man of modest means, is also famous for driving not one, but two shiny Cadillacs.

Note: Senator Joe McCarthy is in the doghouse with Wisconsin voters for another reason besides his irresponsible attack on the State Department. He also voted for the Kerr bill, which is such a hot potato in Wisconsin that McCarthy's colleague, Alexander Wiley, made a thumping speech against it.

Q—What American boat race corresponds to the Oxford and Cambridge boat race held on the Thames in England?

A—The intercollegiate rowing races at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., are generally regarded as the American equivalent of the Oxford and Cambridge boat race. The leading American rowing colleges (except Yale and Harvard) have sent eight-oared crews to compete over the four-mile course on the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., since 1893.

Q—What are joint freight rates?

A—Joint freight rates apply to shipments moving over the lines of more than one railroad, revenue from which is divided among the participating railroads on an agreed basis.

Q—How many deer, elk and black bear are there?

A—Of the estimated 6,300,000 deer in the United States, a third are on the national forests. There are nearly 200,000 elk, of which about three-fourths spend all or part of their time on the national forests. About one-half of the estimated 150,000 black bear are on the national forests.

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

The Other Side of the Curtain
On an October morning in 1903, in a village not far from La Rochelle in eastern France, a young priest paid as he listened to his first confession.

"Yesterday afternoon," he heard the penitent on the other side of the curtain say, "I met a strange girl on the dirt road that runs by the pond. When I tried to make friends with her, she laughed at me, and I got so mad I picked up a stone and hit her to make her stop laughing. She fell down and when I yelled and she didn't move I got scared and buried her behind some bushes."

Father Antoine recognized the voice as that of a 15-year-old who was known in the village as "the story teller"—boy who was always talking about his daydreams as if they had actually happened.

Even though he didn't know whether the confession was fact or fiction, the priest imposed the most severe penance, and in addition ordered the boy to visit him every day after school for a friendly talk.

A few weeks later, Father Antoine was almost certain the "crisis" was an hallucination. For one thing, there had been no report of a missing person in the district and, for another, the boy's descriptions of the murder grew more and more confused.

One afternoon he finally admitted to the priest that his story was a fabrication. "Old meetin' girl," he said "and she got me so angry that I wanted to kill her. But I never touched her, and afterwards I got all mixed up about what I wanted to do and what I really did."

"I suspected as much all along," said Father Antoine, "but I must admit I was shocked at first. You see, you were the first person who ever confessed to me."

Two years later, the boy's family moved to Paris and the priest all but forgot the incident—until a new paved road was laid along-

Not long ago I went over to the NBC studio to cut a recording for the Tex and Jinx show. While there I met Robert Taylor, who also was recording as a guest on their program. We talked about Hollywood and westerns and California and bridge. I showed them today's hand.

Bob said he never played bridge. "It's just a matter of counting," I said, but Bob did not want to bother to count. However, Jinx was interested in discussing a few points in bridge and I showed them today's hand.

There are different ways to bid this hand, but let us say that the final contract is three no trump and the three of spades is opened by West. Declarer can count three spade tricks, one heart, one diamond and four club tricks—nine tricks if he can cash them all.

He must be careful not to win the first trick with the ten of spades; he must win it with the king, because the lead of the three was fourth best, indicating that East had no more spades. Declarer then should cash the king and jack of clubs, and now lead the ten of spades.

If West wins with the queen, declarer can get into dummy with the jack. If West plays the eight-spot, declarer overtakes the trick in dummy with the jack of spades and cashes the ace and queen of clubs. Now he is sure of nine tricks.

Jinx thought it was a nice hand, but Bob Taylor said he still would rather ride a horse.

New York (AP)—Dorothy Shay would like to settle down and have four children.

The "Park Avenue Hillbilly" has traveled some 15,000 miles in a 40-week tour of the nation's superclub circuit. That makes a home and marriage sound mighty restful.

But Miss Shay, whose gusty tunes have skyrocketed her to the top income brackets, has found it easier to sing about "that man" than to find him in real life.

"I'm an eligible bachelor girl," she grimaced, "but if you put it that way it sounds like I'll pay all the bills."

And that's one of her troubles. When a girl earns up to $5,000 a week or more she still wants to be loved for herself alone—not just as a meal ticket for a lazy male gold digger.

"When a man starts talking to me about things like community property laws, I just naturally lose interest," said Dorothy.

What kind of man does she want? Miss Shay talked about that as she waited to start her evening show in the Waldorf's Wedgewood room.

"You think of so many things wrong with them while you're going with them," she smiled.

"After your first romance, your idea of tall, dark and handsome goes out the window.

"Usually I don't care particularly for handsome men—they're too vain. I don't like them sloppy either."

Retiring Junior League President Sees

Goal of Recreation Commission as 'Closer'

Mrs. William Hilton, retiring president of the Junior League of Kingston, told the annual meeting of the League Monday in her official report "It is hoped that our goal of a Recreation Commission is 'closer to fulfillment'." Speaking on the needed larger and including both in the budget of Mr. Lloyd Newlin, chairman, Mrs. Hilton said in her report: "Recreation and the Junior League of Kingston have become even more closely knit this year as the result of two projects. In the fall the Recreation Training Institute under our sponsorship was conducted by Mary Eileen Lawson of the National Recreation Association. Mr. Mortimer Downer and her hard-working committee spared no pains in making every effort to show the League and the participating organizations what can be done in recreation in Kingston. Already the seed is bearing fruit more of our members are working at the Recreation Center, a greater variety of activities are covered, and one other organization is conducting classes there."

Several months later, the league sponsored the movie "Playtown U.S.A." and a related discussion led by Mr. Brewer of the National Recreation Association. As a result of these projects it is hoped that our goal of a Recreation Commission is a little closer to fulfillment." Reviewing the past league year, Mrs. Hilton mentioned among others, the following league activities: The Peggy Bridge Marionettes, brought by the Children's Theatre Committee last April, the annual conference at Boca Raton, Fla.; the rummage sale in May; the work of Mrs. Robert Mosley in provision training, field trips and planning of the summer dance and a rummage sale, the Clare Tree Major players—who will return shortly, aid to the Tumor Clinic, 20 hospital

Mrs. Hilton was chosen to be a member of the cast of "The Willing Lay Worker," a moving picture to be made in Ulster county by the New York State Department of Health.

Mrs. Henry Parker asked for volunteers for the Tumor Clinic for the summer months.

Mrs. Herbert Cutler and one other member of the league will be representatives at the third anniversary meeting of the Cerebral Palsy Association to be held April 13 at the Myron J. Michael School.

Other incoming officers of the league, besides Mrs. de Groot, were: Mrs. Randolph Winston, vice president; Mrs. Sherwood Davis, treasurer; Mrs. William Darling, secretary.

Book Club Reviews "Peabody Sisters"

The Kingston Book Club culminated its studies of Oscar Wilde and his place in English literature, and the "Flowering of New England" period at two recent meetings.

"The Peabody Sisters of Salem" by Thorne was reviewed March 28 by Mrs. Sidney Pauker at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter Levy. Mrs. Pauker discussed the characters in the biographical novel and related them to the famous "Flowering" period. Her report was the springboard for a group discussion of book and period.

At the previous meeting of the club, Mrs. Leon Greenberg gave a scholarly interpretation of the life and work of Wilde, with emphasis on "Dorian Gray." Her report was given at the home of Mrs. Julius Sippen, 33 Lucas avenue.

The next meeting of the group will be April 11 at the home of Mrs. David Kline, 109 Hone street. Mrs. Melvin Navy will report on "The Man With the Golden Arm" by Algren.

Crusade Meetings

The nightly "Crusade for Christ" meetings at the Alliance Gospel Church, corner of Franklin and Pine streets, are held at 7:45 o'clock except Saturday. A capacity audience attended the first service Sunday night, the Rev. Virgil R. Brisco said today. Feature of the nightly services is the appearance of the Rev. T. H. Ritchie, Irish evangelist and his wife. Mrs. Ritchie will play special music tonight on the Hammond Solovox, the musical glasses from Finland, the 438 sleigh-bells, the silver cord-bells and hand-bells. The public is cordially invited to attend all services.

The course for nurses includes 12 months of physical therapy training at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., or other accredited schools of physical therapy, leading to a certificate and physical therapy registration. Balance of the course is devoted to training in the Kenny method of treating polio. Arrangements can be made to take the physical therapy course at a later date if the trainees so desire, Dr. Knapp said.

Upon graduation, Kenny technicians are assured of assignment to duty in one of the six Kenny treatment centers in the United States. Efforts will be made to assign the trainees near home. Salaries start at $285 per month and reach $335. Technicians with supervisory ability can raise their earnings still further, according to Dr. Knapp. Two weeks' vacation with pay is granted after one year; three weeks after two years and four weeks at the end of three years and annually thereafter.

Plumage From Paris

By ROSETTE HARGROVE,
NEA Staff Correspondent

Paris — (NEA) — Parisian designers highlight the air of carefree elegance in the mid-century fashion collections. This is expressed in diverse silhouettes ranging from the short-skirted slim line reminiscent of the 1920's to the voluminous costume that makes lavish use of fabric.

Typical nostalgic reminder of the '20's is Pierre Balmain's sleeveless dress (left) of pale beige. Lightweight wool suiting cloth. A tortoise-shell print scarf attached to a modern version of the cloche hat winds around the neck and ties on one shoulder.

Marking the waistline is a tortoise-shell belt. Brief gloves emphasize the lack of sleeves.

At the other extreme in silhouette is the dramatic "brigand" coat (center) designed by Schiaparelli and shown here in gray and red plaid. Elbow-high red suede gloves meet the short loose sleeves.

Straw lace, which takes a bow in every leading collection, is used by Jean Desess to point up the casual elegance of an evening gown (right). The moderately full-skirt has an uneven hemline which dips to trail on the floor in back. Over a strapless black bodice a trim-waisted bolero is casually knotted at the neckline.

THE CHRONIC BORROWER

A letter brings this real problem: "A friend is a chronic borrower: everything from jackets, sweaters and bathing suits to week-end luggage and hats. Sometimes she asks me for things I haven't as yet had much use of myself. Things never seem the same when they come back, either, although I may be merely imagining this. In any case, is there no way I can refuse without risking a rift?"

In your place, the only thing you can do is to say frankly, "I have had to make it a rule not to lend anything to anyone because so many of my things have been spoiled by borrowers, and if I lend to you, I have to lend to others."

Formal Announcement of Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: Does a formal announcement of an engagement call for a gift and if so, what would you suggest sending to someone who is not a personal friend? In fact, I know she can concerned better than the girl.

Answer: An engagement gift is never an obligation of etiquette, nor even customary, whether you read the announcement in the society column of the paper or whether you receive a note from the bride-to-be.

Encouraging Visitors

Dear Mrs. Post: How can we encourage our new acquaintances here to come to see us? They seem pleasant enough but no one comes and I can't invite them to parties or go to see them until they do something. Or can I?

Answer: You can at any rate urge them quite definitely to come see you: "Won't you come to see me—I'm always home after four o'clock?"

Drinking Toast Without Raising

Dear Mrs. Post: May a toast be suggested at a dinner party in the main dining room of a hotel? I'm thinking of the conspicuousness of seeing a whole table of people rise in a public dining room.

Answer: In a public dining room it would be quite simple to say to those at the table, "I want to propose a toast, but we won't risk a rift?"

Why not serve hot foods at your next cocktail party? Mrs. Post's leaflet, E-26, "Cocktail Parties," gives suggestions for the invitation, the time and what to serve.

To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 92, Station C, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she can not answer personal mail.

Bette Davis Plans

To Divorce Sherry

Hollywood, April 5 (AP)—Bette Davis is thinking divorce again today following her ex-pugilist husband's "pushing" argument with her newest leading man, Barry Sullivan.

The 42-year-old actress hired a lawyer yesterday after William Grant Sherry, 31, scuffled with Sullivan at a studio birthday party to which Sherry was not invited.

The party was in the commandery of R.K.O. studio Monday night and only the cast, crew and a few friends had been asked to attend, a studio spokesman said.

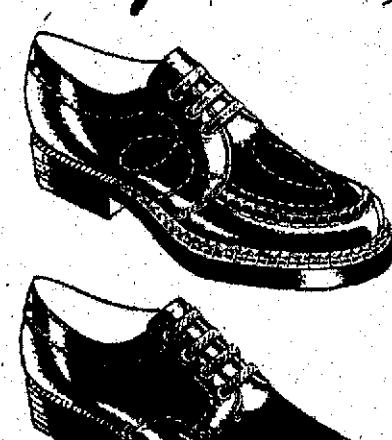

Pending is a divorce suit which Miss Davis filed last Oct. 21. She charged extreme cruelty and asked for custody of their daughter, Barbara, 2. Miss Davis won a court order restraining Sherry from harming her, but three weeks later they became reconciled.

At the time Sherry, former prize fighter turned painter, blamed their troubles on his temper. They were married in 1946 after his release from the navy.

Political Football?

Editor, The Freeman

In a recent issue of The Kingston Daily Freeman it was alleged that Messrs. Anderson, Duvenport, Reeves and others had retained Attorney Eagan of Kingston, N. Y., to contest New York city's experimental rain-making in the Catskill mountains.

A restraining order was issued by the Supreme Court to be argued in Kingston at a later date.

Newspaper and radio commentators have quoted New York city officials as saying that there was nothing in the said order to prevent them from going ahead with these experiments, which, according to reports, is the course they are following.

"Is rain making" becoming a political football? Are the officials of Ulster county afraid of the influence which New York city might exert and/or of the potential votes in the city?

Why is it that the attorney for those parties and/or the officials of Ulster county did not obtain a temporary injunction which would prevent such experiments from taking place, at least until such a time as the court either upheld or dismissed the injunction?

The danger to this area is still as grave as ever. Citizens of Ulster county ask your State Senator, Assemblyman and county officials what, if anything, they are going to do to protect your life and property? Their answers, lack of an answer will help you decide how to vote at the coming election.

Service of Shadow At Uptown Church

The office of Tenebrium, a service written prior to 350 A.D. and used in the primitive church to demonstrate Jesus' desecration on the night before the crucifixion will be observed at the Fair Street Reformed Church on Maundy Thursday, April 6, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. This service is conducted by candlelight and is participated in by elders of the church.

In this service of shadows, the few candles are extinguished one by one and the last remaining candle is carried from the church, signifying "The Shadow of Darkness" and the congregation in silence leaves the darkened church in the same manner as was customary in primitive church days.

There will be reception of new members at the Thursday evening service.

Participating in the service will be the church choir and the service will be terminated with the aria, "Were You There," traditional negro aria, by Mrs. Madeline Wood, choir director.

Those participating in the service of shadow with the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, minister, will be the following:

The Shadow of Betrayal, Addison Schutte, the Shadow of Desecration, Herbert Darrow; the anthem, "O Jesus Thou Art Knocking"; the Shadow of Slumber, Ellingham Burnett; the Shadow of Unshaded Vigil, Frederick Hoffmann; the anthem, "In the Hour of Trial"; the Shadow of the Hour, Theodore Young; the Shadow of Arrest, Burton Haver; the anthem, "O Jesus Thou Art Standing"; the Shadow of the Cross, Stanley Matthews; the Shadow of Darkness, the Rev. Day Line Needs
Dock Facilities
For Kingston Run

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said today that operation of Hudson River Dayline boats to Kingston from New York appears now to be contingent upon an agreement of the Indian Point Corp., owner of Kingston Point Park and the New York Central Railroad, which owns the docking area.

This was determined yesterday when the mayor and Albert Kurtz, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, conferred with George Sanders, president of the line, in New York.

The line is definitely interested in extending its service to the city if it can arrange for proper docking facilities, the mayor said.

Both the railroad and the Indian Point Corp. will be contacted on the proposal.

The proposed Florence street extension from Stephan street would intersect the new development that would join the two parts of Abbey street. The longer of these leads off Foxhall avenue and the shorter off Clifton avenue.

The petition said that "well over" the required 51 per cent of property owners signatures was guaranteed.

Application for Common Council Sanction of the parking meter advertising plan was made by the Parking Meter Advertising Sales Co., of New York, Inc., of 41 Johnston avenue, and the letter, signed by Raymond E. Craft, of that address, was referred to the Laws and Rules Committee.

The letter stressed that it was a locally owned corporation with an exclusive franchise for New York state on a patented device for advertising on the meters, and that the plan would provide additional revenue for the city and a new means of employment.

The device is a bracket placed below the meter head on which are attached three metal plates six by eight inches, bearing the advertising.

Trial installations, with civic slogans only, have been in effect on Wall street since early December, the letter said, and these brought "favorable comment" from the public as to "practicality and good appearance of these miniature billboards."

No Investment Claimed

The plan would mean no "investment, expense or responsibility" to the city, it said, and the city would receive 20 per cent of the revenue payable monthly. This, it stressed, would help in "balancing that ever-increasing budget."

The letter said the corporation has "reason to believe that within a short time we can secure regional and national advertising" and it promised everything possible to distribute the advertising so that no advertiser will have cause to complain."

It also said, it would donate a "generous number of signs for civic messages and campaign slogans, plans on making Kingston the home of the project in the state, and hopes to employ "quite a few workers."

Resolution Is Presented

A letter to Alderman-at-Large Kelly from James P. Martin, president of the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employees Association, asked adoption of an unemployment insurance law covering civil service employees.

It was accompanied by a resolution, which was referred to the Laws and Rules Committee. It stressed that such a law would protect civil service workers and would "increase the morale" of such employees.

It also proposed a three-member council committee to be named to meet with representatives of the association to discuss and prepare the proposed ordinance.

The resolution by Alderman Hirsel Mayes asking an ordinance prohibiting any person in the city to own, keep and have in his possession or harbor, howling, yelping or barking dogs, or those which otherwise shall cause serious annoyance or disturbance, was referred to the Laws and Rules Committee.

The law would provide a fine not to exceed $50, and provide that violations also constitute disorderly conduct.

A letter to Alderman James J. Carroll from Howard C. Shurter, 10 St. James street, asking for relief from a traffic condition on Prospect street, was backed by a resolution from that alderman asking that parking be allowed only on one side of the street between Franklin and St. James streets.

Shurter's letter said that parking on both sides of the narrow street caused congestion, was hazardous to children at School No. 8, and also in the event of a fire in the area.

The resolution was referred to the Traffic Control Committee.

Two petitions for amendments to the zoning law was referred to the Laws and Rules Committee.

One was by Charles Nestell for his son, Herbert W. Nestell for a property at 103-10 Henry street, and the letter said the property would be used for a television and radio service shop.

The other by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palatyn, 12 Cottage Row, asked the change on a property at 594-96 Delaware avenue, which would be used as a barber shop.

A claim of Emily Heinz of Mt. Tremper of $150 for injuries suffered in a fall at Main and Wall streets last Oct. 11, was allowed on recommendation of Corporation Counsel James G. Connolly and on approval of the auditing committee. The information said the woman slipped on a sewer drain covered with leaves at Wall and Main streets, and suffered cuts and bruises.

City Assessor Winfield Swart was granted permission to attend the school for assessors in Albany, April 17, 18 and 19.

Navy Experimented With Saucer-Like Plane

South Dartmouth, Mass., April 5 (AP)—A metal draftsman says the navy experimented late in the war with a fighter plane "shaped somewhat like a saucer" but it was "too complicated" and never left the ground.

Charles Morse, a South Dartmouth boat builder who worked between 1943 and 1945 at Chance-Vought Aircraft, Bridgeport, Conn., said last night the craft, a single-seat fighter known as XFSU1, was intended to have a top speed of 500 miles per hour.

It was somewhat in the shape of a saucer but more like a filled-in horseshoe, with the propellers at the two ends," Morse said. Its engines were on either side of the pilot and the props were driven through shafts and gear boxes but it was too complicated," Morse said.

The plane "had very large props that could be geared down to turn very low for landing in jungle or on small flat-top."

115 Candidates Report for First Baseball Drill at Kingston High

Near Veteran First Team Returns; Ted Schwamb Heads Pitching Corps

Kingston High School's baseball candidates—about 115 of them—including 20 pitchers—are just waiting for some decent playing area to crop up, Coach Bill Burke said today.

The Maroon mentor sent the DUSO champions through a brief workout at Flasbrough Park yesterday, but the ground conditions were not satisfactory.

With the Athletic Field still buried under tons of winter snow and debris, and the municipal stadium at least two weeks away from general use, the high school tossers will just have to scramble around for some place to play.

A virtual all-veteran squad, the only loss was Mike Rienzo at third base, awaits the opening gong on Saturday, April 29, against the Stewart Field Prep nine at Stewart Field, Newburgh.

The pitchers have been drilling for the past three weeks and the original crop of 48 candidates has been pruned down to 20. There are still some 17 catching candidates and 60 others scrambling for infield and outfield positions—of which there are few available.

Schwamb Heads Hurters
Ted Schwamb, a classy looking southpaw who could achieve greatness simultaneously with control, heads the group of six top pitching candidates. But then isn't wildness an occupational disease among southpaw hurlers?

Behind Schwamb Coach Burke has Harry Levy and Bert Kuhn of the 1949 machine, Charlie Tiano, Joe Pecora and Jerry Bechtold. All are right handers.

John Koslowski is the top catching candidate, with Charlie Farley and Richard Brink crowding him for honors.

Third base shapes up as a wide open battle among Jimmy Riehl, Dick Schultz and Bob Lyons, up from the Jayvees. Schultz had limited experience last year, while Riehl picked up valuable training in the City Baseball League.

Veteran Infield
Veterans are stationed at the Sickler's Juniors and the Newburgh Weiners clash in the finals of the Y.M.C.A.-Mid-Hudson basketball tournament tonight at 9:15 on the municipal auditorium court in the greatest natural attraction ever presented in the late season classic.

The Juniors rule a slight favorite to defeat a Hill City squad that includes Dashing Dick Tyler and Big Ed O'Connor, the two brightest scholastic stars in Orange county this season.

In rebuttal, the Juniors offer Ronnie Scheffel, all-time K.H.S. great, and Buddy Smith, Ithaca College center.

The American Legion teams of Monticello and Marlborough are scheduled in the consolation preliminary at 7:45.

The lineups:

Gotham Battens Grammatical Fences; Ol' Dizzy Dean Is Sluddin' To Town

New York, April 5 (AP)—It's tough enough to find anyone left with a pure, rich Brooklynese accent and now, heaven help us, Dizzy Dean is with us.

Yes, old Diz is back in New York again. Not to pitch once more against the Giants or the Dodgers but to cast his Arkansas twang on the air waves as a television announcer for the New York Yankees.

The former pitching genius of the St. Louis Cardinals is going to do a daily T.V. program before and after Yankee games and every other day he's going to handle the play by play commentary, or "commutatin'" as Dizzy calls it, over a local station (WABD, channel five).

When news of this startling event reached the ears of Brooklyn mothers, and Bronx mothers, too, there was great alarm.

Already the fine Brooklynese dialect (example: "Holman horst to Holst at folst") has gone to pot under the daily broadcasting barrages. Mel (Alabama) Allen and Red (Florida) Barber, two rebels from the south who have achieved much success with the Yanks and Dodgers, and the radio and T.V. appearances of the illustrious Hopalong Cassidy.

Next Boxing Show Set for April 20

The next amateur boxing show will be staged on Thursday, April 20, Matchmaker Ben Becker announced today. The original date was April 13 but A.A.U. commissioner said he preferred to wait until the following week so that he could scout material at the Boston Golden Gloves next week. The best looking fighters in the Boston tournament will be brought to Kingston.

Showdown Meeting For P.G.A. Monday

Augusta, Ga., April 5 (UPI)—The tempest within the P.G.A. was temporarily calmed today but it's almost certain that things never will be the same again after a show-down meeting here Monday.

The meeting was originated by the P.G.A. executive committee to smooth the touchy feelings of many of the nation's greatest golfing stars.

All teams captains whose teams have captured a league championship are requested to notify The Freeman sports department immediately for a picture of the team. No pictures of championship teams will be taken at bowling banquets. The Freeman photographer will be available Monday through Fridays from 6 p. m. to 9 p. m.

CHICHELSKY'S CHATTER: An amusing bit of color to the state tournament is the team pictures being taken. We notice there are many new names being added to the various league states for the K.B.A. ballot. The local bowling establishments are already making plans for summer leagues and the 1950-51 season. The Hattstrom handicap system should be applied in some of our leagues next season. It will reduce handicaps considerably and also provide a point system instead of a won and lost record.

Quiz of the week: Who are the defending champions in the state tournament and what was their winning total? Helen Greene of Buffalo recorded the highest all-events ever rolled in a state tournament with 1849 last year in Buffalo.

Recent winners of the cocktail shaker sets offered by the Embassy for highest singles on specific days during the state tournament were: Julia Brundage, New York, 233; Ruth Carlson, Syracuse, 227; Alma Furman, Liberty, 242, highest solo to date; and Mary DeLea, Clyde, 221.

The heat wave struck early in the City League Monday night when Jasper's Restaurant scorched the planks for a 2076 series against Russo's Juniors via games of 305, 1041 and 1030, while seven keglers hit the jackpot for 600 or better.

Richard Howard, the distinguished expert on facts and figures relating to the 1950 census, showed the way for bowling's top drawer society with a brilliant 663 on games of 224-247-192. Runnerup was teammate, Johnny Ferraro, with 652 via 193-212-247. Al Kleffer posted 218-246-646.

Pfeiffer to Tell Dewey of 'Draft'

Kerhonkson Youth Joins Ranger School

Albany, N. Y., April 5 (AP)—The state Republican chairman says he plans to point out to Governor Dewey within the next few days why "Republicans want him to be a candidate again."

William L. Pfeiffer made the statement yesterday as a move to draft Dewey for a third-term nomination apparently gained momentum.

Pfeiffer said he was not surprised at the number of pro-Dewey statements from party leaders in the last few days.

There was also an unfavorable comment—from a former Republican state chairman.

Rep. W. Kingsland Macy, who frequently has been at odds with Dewey, was quoted in Washington.

The Suffolk county leader phrased his own question:

"Would you be for drafting Dewey for governor?"

"I have found very little sentiment for it," he replied.

There was restraint in Erie county. Harry J. Forde, county G.O.P. chairman, said his committee was "watchfully waiting" for Dewey to announce his plans. He added he would have no further comment until after a meeting with Pfeiffer in Buffalo Friday.

An informed Albany source predicted Dewey probably would not announce his plans before April 21—the end of the 30-day period allowed the governor for acting on bills after the Legislature's adjournment.

Talked with Platt

In reply to a question, Pfeiffer said he had talked recently with Livingston Platt, Westchester county G.O.P. chairman, but they had not discussed the possibility of drafting Dewey.

In the closing days of the 1950 Legislature, Westchester's nine-member G.O.P. revolted against Dewey's state rent control bill. The measure was passed only with the aid of one Democratic vote.

Last year, the Westchester and Erie county delegations forced a $48,000,000 reduction in the governor's proposed $168,000,000 tax increase.

Pfeiffer said Platt "was and is an integral part of the Republican organization. He had differences on rent control, that's all."

Pfeiffer, who frequently has called Dewey the strongest Republican candidate for the November 7 election, declared:

"We'll have a united front."

Platt was not available for comment. Several days ago, however, he said he had nothing to say on the third-term question.

Republican committees in Rockland and Madison counties have urged Dewey to run again.

There was further Dewey support in comments from leaders or spokesmen for leaders of G.O.P. committees in Onondaga, Kings, Broome, Columbia, Orange, Dutch-Ulster and Putnam counties.
